Trader Says Too Much Hearst in Political Situation May Cause Trouble.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 .- The general market continued to broaden and ruled strong. There was readjustment of specula tive commitments at the openin gand during the yearly trading, stocks being bought for special purposes in some cases, while there was liquidation for traders in others, causing irregular price movements, but without any decided change in the market's tone.

Railroads Strong.

Delaware and Hudson advanced sharply to 232 1/2, again lifting its highprice record. Reading was in good demand at the opening and advanced to 124%, and on a reaction to 124%. Jersey Central was also strong and in good demand, and the continued absorption of the coalers was accompanied by intimations that the buying was based on some pending important develop-ments. Illinois Central was also ments. Hilhois strong.

Associates of Mr. Harriman said that as soon as he arrived in this city the arrangement for acquiring control of Illinois Central by Union Pacific would be carried through on a basis of 200 in 4 per cent Union Pacific securities.

One of the large room traders, who has been active for some time on the bull side of the market, said there was too much Hearst in the political situa-tion for the good of the market and this trader and others working with him are trader and others working with him are understood to have closed out a large part of their speculative lines. At the same time the fact that market had a three days' advance, makes natural that a reaction should now occur.

Attention was attracted to continued purchases of Republic Steel during the last three days. End of the month settlement in London begins tomorrow, and the approach of the settlement is believed to have much to do with London weakness. London sold 25,000 shares in the first hour. Government bonds were unchanged; other bonds firm.

WANTED---REAL ESTATE

Most real estate dealers seem to have more property than they can handle. At least, the newspapers are so burdened with announcements of sacrifices that one might believe that everybody is trying to get rid of his holdings at any price.

The reverse is our trouble. We have customers who would purchase and also persons who would become tenants—if we could produce desired properties. We are looking for stores, houses, flats and apartments. Yours might suit. If you have any real estate which you are willing to sell at a fair price, let us have it. Don't price your property at what you think it will be worth seven years hence, and then expect us to dispose of it at once. What we now want particularly is investment property which will oduce a reasonable income. If you have such, let us have it while we are in the way to sell. If your house is vacant, in the interest of yourself, ourselves, the tenant and also the property, let us fill it. If your property is rented and you do not wish to sell, yet you are in trouble and not satisfied with results, consult us. We may be able to
